

Hello there!

We are Jess and Eddie, and we want to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for taking the time to get to know us. We hope this letter finds you in moments of peace and comfort, knowing that you are making a decision that comes from a place of immense love and courage.

We also want to express our deepest gratitude for considering us as potential parents for the precious life you are carrying. Our journey to parenthood has been filled with hope, love, and resilience, but also with the challenge of infertility. After numerous attempts and emotional highs and lows, we realized that the path to having a biological child was not possible.

While this realization brought profound sadness, it also led us to adoption. We have come to understand that biology does not define the depth of love and connection between a parent and a child, and our hearts are open and ready to welcome a little one into our lives. It is truly our greatest desire to provide a loving, nurturing, and supportive home for a child, and we are committed to creating a space filled with endless love, laughter, and opportunities for growth.

We also understand that adoption holds many complexities and does not come without grief and loss. We feel the weight of this and are committed to a lifetime of holding space for all those involved, as we hold space for you now. Wherever you are on this journey, you are not alone.

Please know you are in our thoughts and prayers as you navigate this journey. Your courage and love inspire us, and we hold you in the highest regard. If our lives should intersect, we eagerly anticipate the extraordinary gift of loving this child and continuing to love you.

With heartfelt gratitude and respect,
Jess and Eddie
